The Pericles LL.M. EARN A LAW DEGREE IN MOSCOW

Pericles is a unique institution in Russia, being the only law school to offer a complete American style LL.M. degree in Moscow. In establishing the curriculum, Pericles has worked closely with American and Western European law firms and companies operating in Russia. The curriculum is designed to teach the skills and knowledge that those law firms want to see in their associates and which those companies want to see in their in-house counsel and in the law firms they retain. Thus, the main aim of the program is to make Pericles LL.M. graduates competitive for the top legal jobs in Russia. Many graduates might also be able to qualify to practice law in the United States after this degree.

The LL.M. is a second degree in law and is designed to help lawyers and future lawyers increase their job prospects upon graduation. The Pericles LL.M. is a two- to three-year program with courses offered at nights and on weekends. In order to receive an LL.M. degree, you must complete 36 units of course work, which are broken down into 7 core courses (20 units of work) that students have to take in order to graduate, and 16 units of elective course (5 to 7 courses) that allow you to concentrate on subjects that interest you. Courses are taught completely in English by Western professors, using Western textbooks and materials.
