Year 4, Paris Campus

I chose ESSCA for its “à la carte” curriculum, which allows me to organise my studies to suit my career plans. On the programme, I've acquired in-depth theoretical knowledge while gaining practical experience, particularly through internships. The school also offers excellent academic support. The teachers are always ready to listen and take time to speak to each of us individually. Lastly, I really appreciate the cultural diversity on campus, and the many social and student club activities that make it very easy to fit in at the school.

Overseas Campuses

BUDAPEST CAMPUS

With nearly 2 million inhabitants and 10,000 companies based in Budapest, Hungary's capital city is influential throughout Central Europe, a region of significant economic growth. France is the third most important investor, with its top corporations playing an active role in supporting the rapid development of this exciting and dynamic country. ESSCA was the first-ever French Grande Ecole to choose Budapest as a campus location. Each year since 1993, our faculty prepare more than 150 students representing 20 nationalities for international careers in the marketing, finance and management professions. Additionally, our continued professional development courses help Hungarian businesses meet the challenges and opportunities generated by the expansion of Europe, as well as supporting the activities of French companies in Hungary.

SHANGHAI CAMPUS

ESSCA is particularly invested in its relationship with China. After a number of partnership agreements with leading universities, in 2007 ESSCA opened its very own campus in Shanghai. This pioneering initiative allows us to welcome degree students from China onto our programmes delivered in Europe, as well as offering students from ESSCA and partner universities a unique opportunity to study business in China, while learning about Chinese language and culture. Our students regularly choose this fascinating country as their first choice of destination abroad, with ESSCA offering a unique range of post-graduate programmes at our Shanghai campus.
